THE CITIZENS' CALL The Voice of the People Calling for

John Johnson. We publish this morning a list of nearly our thousand names, calling upon John Johnson to become mayor for another erm. There are still out lists, with nearly or quite at house of names that have not been prought to the office. In the hurry of taking brought to the chies. In the hurry of taking so many nines much confusion in spelling is naturally to be expected, and, as many of the names were written on the lists out in the street, with penult, they were almost lilegible by the time they reached the con position. We have no doubt, therefore, that many gonileasen may find their names wrongly depelled this morning—it is hardly possible that it could be otherwise. We have preserved the manuscripts carefully, and there is no name for which a signer cannot be found to answer in the city. As it was plain that so was a najority of the respectable voters of the city were for Mr. John Joonson for mayor, it was deemed unnecessary to postpone the publication of the names until the whole population should have signed the call.

The Wife of the County Coroner Stab Horself in the Abdomen and Dies. been troubled some time with neuralgia, pains in the face, and other rheumatic affections in the back, which at length became so intolerable that she resolved to put an end to her lif and her tortures at the same time, On Monday, in the afternoon, she got out of bed to allow the removal of some furniture, notice of what had occurred, she lifted up the shoots white and said, "Jim, I have stabbed mysel."

In a short time a number of neighbors were in the house, to whom a -e said that she had done it purposely, that she was perfectly sane, that she wanted to die, and she had done the deed with the intention of putting an end to her own life. The doctor was in attendance very soon after the tatal misfiritime, and at once pronounced the injuries necessarily mortal, she lived until yesterday at three o'c.ock, when she died. Squire Elliott, at the request of the coroner, summoned a jury and head an inquest on the remains or the lilistarred tady. After hearing the testimony the jory, of which the sherriff was chairman, agreed to a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Moffatt had come to they death from the effects of a wound with a knife, infacted by her own hand. The inneral takes place to day.

Coroner Moffatt has our deepest sympathy in this great and untoward afficiation. The deceased leaves one child, a little grif three or lour years old, behind, who will mass the kind smile of a very affectionate mother.
